Opera Password Description: Name: Version: Occupational exposure to man-made mineral fibers and cardiorespiratory disease. MedLine Citation: PMID: 15040303 Owner: NLM Status: MEDLINE Abstract/OtherAbstract: MANY STUDIES HAVE ESTABLISHED A RELATIONSHIP between exposure to asbestos fibers and incidence of cancer or other health problems, but little is known about the association between long-term exposure to man-made mineral fibers (MMMFs) and respiratory diseases. We therefore assessed the association between MMMF exposure and cardiorespiratory diseases in the French SNIIRAM cohort, a large prospective cohort of men and women. Seven hundred twenty workers in the nuclear industry (building maintenance and waste management) were exposed to different types of MMMF (asbestos, glass fibers, and stone fibers). Controls were employed in the nuclear industry but had never worked with MMMF. During the study period, 168 symptomatic workers and 468 controls were excluded because they were diagnosed with bronchial hyperresponsiveness (BHR), asthma, or chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD) before work assignment. Three sub-cohorts were created, including workers with exposure to asbestos, glass fibers, and stone fibers. Standardized questionnaires and respiratory health examinations were performed at the time of enrollment. The risk of
